UPCOMING EVENTS:

Work on the Harbor Bridge Project is steadily progressing

Roadworks crews recently completed the demolition of the Alameda Street Pedestrian Bridge. The demolition took place after construction wrapped up on the new Staples Street Bridge, which is now open to the public. The Alameda Street Pedestrian Bridge will not be reconstructed and will remain a permanent closure as part of the Harbor Bridge Project. The lighted trellis above the pedestrian bridge was removed and is being stored by FDLLC. The trellis will be repurposed on the project as part of the landscaping design.

HBP IH 37 Traffic Switch complete

Motorists are on a new path in the area of IH 37 with the recent traffic switch completed by crews during the first weekend of November. The switch will allow HBP crews to continue construction on IH 37 west of Crosstown at SH 286 and the remaining overpass bridges over Port Avenue and Nueces Bay Boulevard.
