HBP Deputy Project Manager participates in panel discussion on local economic impacts

The Westside Business Association held a lunch and learn event titled “Business Beyond the Boom” on Wednesday, November 8 at the Holiday Inn Downtown Marina hotel. FDLIC Deputy Project Manager Hunter Bodycott was one of three panelists that discussed future economic impacts in the Coastal Bend area as part of the event. Barbara Canales, Port of Corpus Christi Commissioner and Jared Young, Public and Government Affairs Manager for ExxonMobil Chemical Company served as guest panelists, as well. Bodycott was able to share data related to the anticipated workforce that will be needed to construct the new Harbor Bridge, as well as, his personal experiences on transportation projects he has completed nationwide.

FDLIC Deputy Project Manager Hunter Bodycott talks about the number of jobs the Harbor Bridge project will bring to the area.

“Breakfast with the Builder” event held for Hillcrest, Washington/Coles residents and business owners

Members of the FDLIC team met with Northside residents for a “Breakfast with the Builder” event on November 30. The event, held at Howard’s BBQ, provided residents the opportunity to speak one-on-one with project developers. Guests were provided a brief update in the areas of construction, workforce and traffic impacts. An additional “Breakfast with the Builder” will be held for North Beach residents on December 7.
